THE BEST THOUGHTS OF THE BEST THINKERS

A burnt child dreads the fire. —Lilly.

It is a pleasure to grow old when the years that bring decay to ourselves ripen the prosperity of our country. —Lytton.

I hate anything that occupies more space than it is worth. I hate to see a load of bandboxes going along the street, and I hate to see a parcel of big words without anything to them. —Hazlitt.

It is much easier to meet with error than to find truth; error is on the surface, and can be more easily met with; truth is hid in the great depths and the way to seek it does not appear to all the world. —Goethe.

We lead but one life here on earth. We must make that beautiful. And to do this, health and elasticity of mind are needful, and whatever endangers or impedes these must be avoided. —H. W. Longfellow.

Simplicity in character, in manners, in style, in all things, the supreme excellence is simplicity. —Longfellow.

The fatal blow at war will not be struck until the money profits of war are eliminated. More potent than peace treaties, more drastic than the sinking of navies and the demobilizing of armies would be the simple act of providing that any future war shall be profitless. —Ford.

The wise man is but a learner in fact, spelling letters from a hieroglyphical, prophetic book, the lexicon of which lies in eternity. —Carlyle.

Afflictions are but the shadow of God's wings. —Macdonald.

The brief source of self-happiness is the act of making others happy. —Loth.

Religion is the best armor a man can have, but it is the worst cloak. —Bunyan.

To be free minded and cheerfully disposed at hours of meat, sleep and exercise is one of the best precepts of long lasting. —Bacon.

Learning maketh young men temperate, is the comfort of old age, standing for wealth with poverty, and serving as an ornament to riches. —Cicero.

Give because you love to give, as the flower pours forth its perfume. —Spurgeon.

If public officials are smart enough to borrow the money instead of adding it to the taxes, it is considered they have made good.

Good many children seem to think that householders raise grass in their front lawns to serve as playgrounds for them.

MISTAKES When a plumber makes a mistake he charges twice for it. When a lawyer makes a mistake it's just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

When a doctor makes a mistake he buries it. When a tailor makes a mistake some one has a bad fit. When a watchmaker makes a mistake he has the time to fix it.

When a preacher makes a mistake nobody knows the difference. When an electrician makes a mistake he blames it on induction. Nobody knows what that is.

BUT—When an engineer makes a mistake—GOOD NIGHT!—So. Pac. Bulletin.
